Doubtless I will win another 1-Carat black star of india. Soon I shall have a very impressive collection of same.

For the past several weeks, my livre de Chevet has been the following:

Lawrence Durrell's Prospero's Cell: a guide to the landscape and manner of the island of Corcyra. It's one of the books that Tina Storkovics lent me. No "travel" book is not my favorite genre and there was not enough to make the genre number one for me. Durrell writes well but subject of her Pen (Coqui) is not among my big's priorities. Having read the Durrells, I have now begun an excellent book about the Elizabethan wood picture/view. The title of this, my latest, livre de Chevet is:

"The Elizabethan Wood Picture" by E. M. W. Tillyard.

a couple of years ago, HARP made this quilt -- she made one for me + one for OWP. We were asked to pick out our favorite pattern. From among the possibilities, I selected this Navajo afghan. HARP gave them to OWP + me + then took them back "for safe keeping." Today when I stopped at the Golf Course HARP said: "Why don't you take your afghan. You'll need it to keep warm, won't you?" Very sweet of her to think about my creature comfort. I now have the very beautiful Navajo afghan at Eekdale.

Designed in A Great Tradition—Navajo Afghan
All the symmetry and symbolism of the Indian blanket weavers designs are adapted in an easy afghan. The result: bands of solid color and a variety of geometrics in a bold, primitive pattern that is equally at home in both traditional and modern settings. Crochet all in one piece using the basic afghan stitch, add cross stitch embroidery motifs. Orlon yarn, tapestry needle and instructions are included. Finished size: 45x55".
20-3719—Bris./Rust/White Afghan Kit $13.99
20-3720—Brown/Turq./Off White 13.99
